Review

“The past comes alive here and teaches us life in the present; and time is no longer a single strand stretched out and forbidding but is rather a vast spaciousness all are invited to explore.” (Brian Swimme, Ph.D., Physicist, Holy Names College, author of The Universe Is a Green Dragon)

“Barbara Hand Clow offers a brilliant and ingenious record of her inner journey into the multiple landscapes of her creative unconscious.” (Jean Houston, Ph.D., author of The Possible Human)

“. . . a spellbinding journey through cellular memory and the multidimensional self, brilliantly recalled with an infusion of Pleiadian perspective.” (Barbara Marciniak, author of Bringers of the Dawn)

“Blending new science with myth, Barbara Hand Clow reveals an astonishing vision of past and future. Read it!” (John Matthews, author of Celtic Shamanism)

“A spellbinding tour de force of ancient mysteries and archaic consciousness drawn into present time and space. . . . Barbara Hand Clow has worked real magic with this book.” (Robert E. L. Masters, director of research for the Foundation for Mind Research and author of The Go)

“Barbara Hand Clow gently illuminates the shadows of our frightened souls with a multitude of magnificent stories, teachings, blessings, and truths.” (Tony Shearer, author of Lord of the Dawn and Beneath the Moon and under the Sun)

“Barbara Hand Clow’s account of her extensive past-life regressions is mesmerizing and insightful. From past lives lived as great initiates and seers to humble everyday people, she reveals that no matter how spectacular or quietly ordinary a life may seem, it is always filled with great lessons.” (Michael Talbot, author of Mysticism and the New Physics)

“For those interested in reincarnation, this will be a fine reading experience. For those new to the work of Barbara Hand Clow, they are in for a special treat. Recommended to all readers who enjoy exploring the past with a brilliant writer." (Lee Prosser, Ghostvillage.com, Feb 2007)

"You can read this as a collection of stories or, as the author intends it, as an amassed collection of past-life memories. It does not matter what your belief system. If you can keep an open mind and be willing to find the bits of wisdom laced throughout this book, you will surely find some path toward personal growth." (Ladyfogg, Ladyfogg's Deck Reviews, March 2007)

"Past-life regression goes far beyond symptom relief, validation of belief or simply to verify reincarnation. Regression can facilitate growth, integrating personal healing and spiritual growth into one process. . . . Knowing our own unique past provides a vehicle for learning so much about our true essence, our higher selves." (Alice R. Berntson, New Connexion, Jul/Aug 2008)

Remember, this is non-fiction.

By Penny Duff

One can read this book on two levels--or perhaps two hundred. It is smoothly and well written, and for one reading with just the conscious mind, it is fascinating, absorbing, and a wonder of a book. On another level, I found myself reading it as a remembrance of things I had forgotten in the dust of ages past. Things I had forgotten, things half remembered, lifetimes lived and not fully explored. I found myself understanding the action in the book at levels far beyond the conscious mind. Some might argue that the product of past life therapy is a group of mind fantasies, and if they do, nothing is lost. As a past life therapist myself, however, I would question the mind's ability to produce something of the awesome depth of this book as pure fantasy. Not only does this book have a profound depth and a wealth of metaphysical, spiritual and philosophical understanding, but it renders that wealth in a supremely readable format. I would give this book 6 stars if that were available.

Pretty Esoteric, Even For Barbara Hand Clow

By Joseph Barclay Ross

Now don't get me wrong, Barbara Hand Clow is one of the greatest geniuses currently writing in the world. She flips me out every time I read her. A great astrologer, a great philosopher, and a great mind -- of a higher order than most readers may be able to grasp. THE PLEIADIAN AGENDA is a must for anyone who wants to know what is going on today in the universe, the true universe, not just the rocks and stones; also her book on THE MAYAN CODE. Words cannot describe the brilliance of both these books; they are pivotal masterworks in the evolution of humanity, IMHO. But this book on her past lives is like home movies of her previous incarnations. Colorful, intense, but not necessarily very apt for you or I. I suppose I'll get around to digesting it more fully after reading (and re-reading) her other works. Her book on CHIRON is a classic. The fact that astrology and the work of such a consummate genius are so soundly ostracized by the skeptical establishment is quite tragic; but undoubtedly predictable. They gave us pesticides, atom bombs, James Randi and George Bush, and Big Macs, didn't they? This world is run by ghouls. And Barbara Hand Clow is on the side of good, loving, caring, wise angels attempting to uplift all our sorry butts out of this morass. So I'll read this book someday and count myself well ahead of the game with her other masterpieces so far.

Mind Blowing Chronicles.

By Cody Westerlund

If you think you would enjoy learning about a history of this world not written down in any textbooks, but experienced first hand by a talented young woman who taps into some of her other lives then this book (series) is for you. Advanced metaphysical considerations presented in an extremely accessible manner by an earnest writer who had something amazing to share with the world. Do yourself a favor and read these books, period.
